Dear Devansh,

Congratulations on receiving an offer of admission from McMaster University.

McMaster truly is a unique place and its commitment to creating a brighter world can be seen in the many ways we help our students learn and discover their strengths and interests, as well as in the research excellence our professors transfer to the classroom, our students and the wider world.

We believe that bringing together the best and brightest minds is the spark that leads to great advances and has allowed McMaster to continue to stay firmly within the world's top 100 universities for many years. In 2018, McMaster was ranked 77th in the influential Times Higher Education World University rankings and with more than 18,000 universities in the world, this puts us in a very special and respected category.

We invite you to join us and share in that success. Our innovative approaches to teaching will inspire you to develop a passion for discovery that will remain with you the rest of your life. Taking part in experiential learning opportunities on campus or in the community, trying your hand at entrepreneurship or participating in career planning and events, playing a part in any of the hundreds of clubs and student activities on campus are all part of the distinct and engaging experience we offer our students.

All of these exciting activities happen at our beautiful, pedestrian-friendly campus, which boasts excellent libraries and learning facilities, a wide-range of modern athletics facilities, and food services that have won awards in Canada and internationally.

McMaster has much to offer and I hope you will choose to join us this Fall as you begin your university journey.

My best wishes in your continued academic and personal success.
